

Roots and Blossoms

-the (r)evolutionary dimension of the
Metamorphic Technique

A weekend seminar with Eddie O'Brien and Marianne Tuor

Location: Cockpit Theatre. Gateforth Street, London, NW8 8EH.
(Marylebone-Bakerloo Line - only 7 min. walk)

Cost: £145 (sterling)

Date & Time: Saturday 5th September 10am – 5.30pm
Sunday 6th September 10am - 1.45pm

This seminar will involve enquiry into a revolutionary and evolutionary dimension of the Metamorphic Technique that often remains unexplored.

Who Should Attend?

The seminar will be relevant for teachers and practitioners. It will also be relevant for those interested in the subject of transformation and will be open to anybody who has attended a Metamorphic Technique workshop.

MARIANNE TUOR extensively teaches and practices the Metamorphic Technique, both in her home country of Switzerland and other parts of Europe. Marianne worked closely with Gaston Saint-Pierre as organiser every year, of at least one of his annual workshops in Switzerland, during the last eleven years of Gaston's life. She was appointed into a leading role in the teacher training for teachers of the Metamorphic Technique.

EDDIE O'BRIEN has been passionately involved with the Metamorphic Technique for over thirty years. Ever since completing his Masters in consciousness studies at Antioch University, U.S., Eddie has presented numerous seminars on the subjects of transformation and communication and has had numerous articles published.
